FOREWORD

THE DYNAMIC POWER inherent in the broadcasting industry which permits it to successfully meet every challenge, whether economic or technological, again is being convincingly demonstrated as this, the 24th annual edition of the RADIO ANNUAL-TELEVISION YEAR BOOK goes forward to its international readership.

THE INDUSTRY in the months intervening since the last RADIO ANNUAL-TELEVISION YEAR BOOK was published has faced up to a variety of perplexing and singularly complicated problems. All have either been solved or are in the process of solution. As a result the industry today continues to move ahead confidently, with its progress further advanced by the technological improvements and innovations emanating from the workshops of the scientists. The order of the day in broadcasting indeed is "Forward!"

THE RADIO-TELEVISION DAILY has been privileged to play its own informative role in the stirring events of the year, and this edition of the industry's acknowledged premiere reference work has been written, compiled, and edited in the same tradition of service and authority.

IT is the work of countless assistants and collaborators from all branches of the industry, and to all of them, our thanks and our deep appreciation.

PART OF THE 250,000 VISITORS TO RECENT WNAX-SPONSORED NATIONAL PLOWING CONTEST

FROM PLOWING TO PAGLIACCI

Each Peoples' station programs exclusively for the people of its own community. In the farm areas, WNAX (North and South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota and Nebraska); WRFD (Central Ohio); and KVTV-TV (South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota and Nebraska), are known, respected and yes, loved, because of their constant devotion to the needs and desires of their audiences. While in the sophisticated urban communities of WTTM (Trenton, N. J.), and WGAR (Cleveland), the listeners hear programs compatible with their ways of life. Around Fairmont, W. Va., WMMN, first in audience for many years, concentrates on satisfying its own home town friends. Thus Peoples stations program from plowing to Pagliacci —but no rock 'n roll, if you please.

STORER BROADCASTING COMPANY

33 years of community service

WHEN DO YOU FREEZE A FORMAT?

The answer is simple — never!

At least, in 33 years, no Storer Station has been able to manage it.

Public preference changes too fast and so do each community's needs. That is why every Storer Station is locally oriented to the particular community it serves.

Only by knowing community problems from day to day have we been able to help solve them. Only through constant check on listener and viewer preferences have we been able to build loyal, responsive audiences

Keeping the public informed and entertained, and working for a better community is a day-to-day, often an hour-to-hour, even minute-to-minute job.

We've never found a way to format community service. It's too big... too fluid...too much of a responsibility to be frozen — even for one day.

Free Society Holds Greater Broadcasting Responsibility

By LE ROY COLLINS
President, National Association of Broadcasters

A POSITIVE program centered around capturing and serving the public interest is the answer to our current and future broadcasting problems. In order for this to take on proper perspective our government relations must be strengthened, we must have a more unified system of good public relations, and improved broadcasting standards. All of these must be accomplished in and by the industry itself.

Unless we set out immediately to reach these goals through constructive methods and logical standards, our industry will suffer tremendously. We must become involved more effectively in improving the kind and quality of programming, the diversity of programming in prime time, the extent and nature of advertising, and the machinery for assuring, in a positive sense, self discipline in the industry.

It is up to us to act now! Delay or neglect will lead to chaos in broadcasting, with the American public as loser. Such a situation would be disastrous. What should be done is to eliminate obvious mistakes. Every broadcaster must contribute, and strive to improve upon the industry's relationship with the federal government and the American people. Our free society must make use of its methods of communication.

Freedom depends upon the aid of electronic communication. It will continue to exist in America and will grow throughout the world only with our assistance. This is why our primary concern in NAB is to help make broadcasting a greater force in American life. To do this, we are determined to help improve the quality of broadcasting through the efforts of the broadcasters themselves, and to shield the profession from those who would destroy any of our basic American freedoms.

There is no national formula which we may follow, as broadcasting needs differ from state to state. There are significant and overriding values which are contained in all methods or standards of communications. It is the highest among these that I am determined that NAB shall find and serve. These goals take us above the average trade association ideals and involve public service and patriotic motivational concern.

The ideal situation is for the broadcasters to act together, on their own, correcting and fortifying current standards. Once aware of this, the American public will begin to appreciate and cooperate with what we are doing. Program standards will diversify. An appeal to radio and Tv sponsors will eliminate the violent, the cheap, the vulgar and the lewd. An uplifting of film production, network programming, and station programming will create a new and worthwhile medium.

Such a medium would include more outstanding drama, fine music programs, public information services; programming which will educate as well as satisfy the demands of our audience. Built upon the distinguished programming that is currently available, such a venture would be a cooperative one. Networks, independent stations, and advertisers would all contribute in this new American challenge.

The broadcaster must give a full measure of his talent to deserve a professional status. He must recognize that his ever-increasing power in our free society carries with it a greater responsibility to serve.

Communications should become our greatest weapon in our fight for freedom.

New Broadcasting Frontiers Offer Unlimited Challenge

By NEWTON N. MINOW
Chairman, Federal Communications Commission

BROADCASTING has yet to realize its full potential. Intelligent communications via the air waves is a most integral part of the new American frontier. What better time is there for the industry to arrive at a point where full potential will begin to be realized by the broadcasters themselves. Sights must be set on a higher programming level.

All this does not mean that drastic revisions or complete shakeups in the business or in the FCC table of organizations itself are about to take place. It means that we, the broadcasters, must work harder.

To criticize current policies is one method of determining just what is to be done. Broadcasters must give the public more credit for their fundamental intelligence. The American people are eager for growth, intellectual growth in the mass media. We must approach our audience with the basic idea that they are able to hold an interest in a higher type format.

The FCC has both the duty and the power to insist that broadcasting give the public more in the way of programming than it has in the past. It is quite apparent that although some broadcasters do not meet the responsibility in an industry that is most responsible, there are still large numbers of influential communicators who are eager to do something. Many employed in the industry at very high pay scales have requested to work with the FCC in its demand for better "on the air" policy. A decrease in their wage scale would make no difference to these outstanding individuals providing constructive motivation could become a reality. As long as there is an interest there is no doubt that tremendous strides can be made.

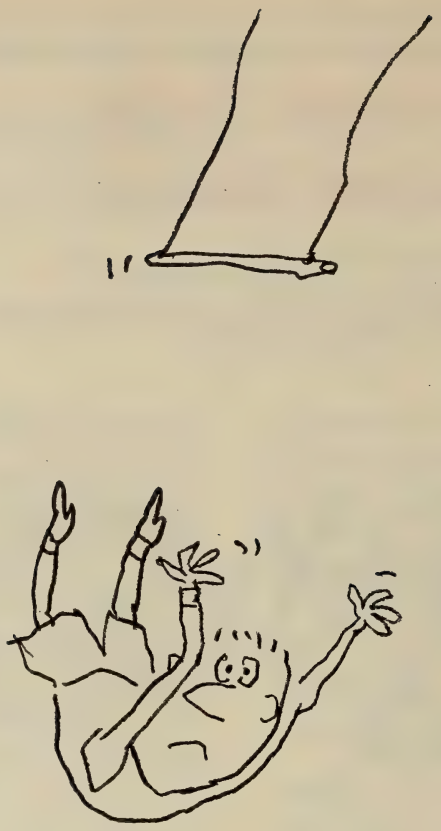
Ratings are perhaps one of the greatest handicaps in the industry. Something is wrong with the various services so widely used. If a station offers nothing but "Western Thrillers" for two or three years due to favorable ratings it is understandable that such a station may have serious problems when it applies for renewal. There is going to be a much closer scrutiny of promise versus performance.

Increased monitoring of individual stations will be another vital factor. Stations must begin to measure up to a fresh quality with decent intelligent content. Encouragement of an operation of permanent pay television to compete with free TV in line with broader tests of this new medium, will be stressed.

Carefully planned and conscientious broadcasters will realize that the development of local shows and local talent is most important. Some broadcasters may be surprised to learn that controversy or discussion of top national or governmental issues is a very marketable commodity despite those who are afraid of it and want to stick to a program of brief headlines.

The presidential debates certainly indicated that the medium of television was being used to its highest capacity. Everyone was given an equal chance to participate fully in the democratic process. These debates clearly indicate that public service broadcasting can be a provocative commentary or discussion of events of the day rather than just dry lecturing by some college professor.

The new frontier in broadcasting offers a stimulating challenge to men and women dedicated to public service and the media of mass communications.



Never promise more than you can perform

FIRST: GET CLEAR DIRECTIONS...

Finding and fashioning the right show to meet the client's objectives and the audience he wants to reach—that's the job of 64 TV pros at McCann-Erickson. We call it "selective programming." And it works! The 210 million visits* to American homes our clients made in a recent week should tell how well.

Promotion's Key Role In Broadcasting Growth

By JOHN F. HURLBUT
President, Broadcasters' Promotion Association, Inc.

SOME time ago, I was asked to address two consecutive sessions of a broadcast management class on Promotion. Taking a long look at what one does and has done for a living is a revealing experience. Describing a many-faceted profession in 100 minutes of classroom time isn't easy.

But preparation for these classes revealed in sharp focus two facts of broadcast business life: the rapid growth of Promotion, and its key role in our industry.

Time was when the broadcast promotion man or woman had a rather indefinite job assignment — those chores that no one else wanted to take on. And much to the credit of many of today's veteran promotion people, they molded careers from seemingly unrelated miscellany.

1961's Promotion Manager is more than a "publicity man", or an "exploitation expert" or a "copy writer". He is a key executive with all the implications and demands of that term. He must plan as well as make deals, must create strategy and get things done. He is part of the management team and a skilled specialist.

Does this mean that he is a jack-of-all-trades? Not at all. It does mean that the Promotion Manager has an appreciation for the blend of the creative and the practical that is modern broadcasting.

Now that our profession has matured, what are the man-sized challenges that face promotion people in the years ahead?

In advertising, should media which are first in public attention be content with less than 25 per cent of the advertising dollar? This concern of broadcast ownership and sales management is an equal concern of promotion managership. It is up to the Promotion Manager to find new ways to demonstrate to more sellers that broadcasting media can move their products.

Such industry growth cannot be accomplished by individual station or group promotion alone. Our industry has to present a solid front. I have long contended that station Promotion people ought to meet at least once each six weeks to discuss strategy for getting revenue into our media.

But the most successful financial operation cannot continue without a license. The terms of a broadcasting license are as much a concern of the Promotion Manager as the General Manager and Owner. "Image" and "government regulation" are favorite topics of discussion at seminars, conventions and over lunch tables. As long as broadcasting stations are licensed by government, it is important that all government officials and members of Congress, as well as the FCC, are informed about what broadcasting is accomplishing. If their only source of information is mail from pressure and special interest groups, we are in trouble.

The Promotion Manager can and does contribute most positively to the "image" area. First, he can suggest apt topics for documentary or public service type programming. Secondly, he can reach those groups with information having to do with the nature of our business, as well as specific promotion of special interest programming.

In today's and tomorrow's broadcasting, Promotion has a defined role and an important one. It helps give a broadcasting organization purpose and direction.

To you the advertiser, broadcast promotion has special significance. Not so much for what it can do for your specific campaign at the moment, but for the long range strength Promotion gives the station you are buying.

I'm proud to be a Promotion Man, proud of Promotion's accomplishments, and I'm excited by its challenges.

Quality Radio Is Vital In Sustained Success

By ROBERT R. PAULEY
ABC Vice Pres. in Charge of Radio Network

ONE of the strangest things to me in the development of language is that a cliche becomes just that because it expresses a strong thought in a strong way. However with use and re-use, the phrase loses the power if not the meaning for which it was originally intended.

One example: "It takes money to make money."

No one that I know of disagrees with this statement. But many in the radio business have said the words then monetarily retrenched even further in efforts to make a profit while losing sight of the vital necessity in sustained success—quality.

Some have shown a profit by this method. But in so doing, they seem to have altered the shape and power of radio. At the first sign of trouble for radio a few years ago, expenditures were cut to make up for the very real loss of revenue; a necessary step perhaps then. But in many cases this procedure continues and broadcasters are content to remember the good old days rather than work for a few good new days.

It does take money to make money. And at ABC Radio, we believe it also takes money to provide the service that makes a radio network what it should be—a vital high quality entertainment medium.

At ABC, broadcasting means entertainment. As broadcasters we realize the full importance of furnishing the public with the best news gathering and reporting possible. The increased emphasis on news at ABC Radio in the past six months is tangible evidence of this realization.

But first of all, we are providers of entertainment. For 27 years now Don McNeill has been providing morning entertainment to ABC Radio listeners of the "Breakfast Club." But one of the reasons that both first and second quarter "Breakfast Club" sales are up this year is that we have never stopped trying to find new ways to make the program even more appealing to the radio audience, and a good solid show is worth any additional money it might take.

A substantial money investment was also made by ABC Radio last year with the introduction of "Flair." A daily, 55-minute, afternoon program consisting of 11 segments, each lasting approximately 90 seconds, "Flair" counts among its roster of stars Theodore Bikel, Jonathan Winters, Margaret Truman, Harry Golden, Johnny Desmond, Fran Allison, Boris Karloff and Wayne & Shuster.

The money paid was worth the results. Affiliates from coast to coast jumped on the "Flair"—wagon and at the end of the year the program was being carried on 268 stations. Advertiser interest consistently increased and we anticipate impressive "Flair" sales gains during 1961.

Last year ABC Radio alone was willing to pay a record sum for radio rights to the Patterson-Johansson Heavyweight Championship Fight. With 61 million listeners—the largest audience in the history of advertising—tuning in, ABC Radio and the fight sponsors all found that the return was worth the investment. For the March 13 fight this year, ABC Radio spent even more money for the radio rights and quickly found sponsors.

Spending money is of course not the only answer to increasing the audience penetration and earning power of network radio. You must take into consideration the aims and desires of your affiliates and the public.

No station—and no listener—really wants a program service that reflects a philosophy of cost-cutting and minimal effort. Rather, from the news to entertainment programs that reflect quality and maximum effort will bring the best audience.

It takes some extra effort, some patience and it may take some spending, but remember, "It takes money to make money!"

BECAUSE THERE IS AN ABC RADIO NETWORK...

BECAUSE THERE IS AN ABC RADIO NETWORK – millions of young adults meet entertaining people like Dick Van Dyke, Jonathan Winters, Wayne & Schuster, Margaret Truman, Bonnie Prudden, and so many other fascinating personalities. (That's "Flair" on ABC Radio).

BECAUSE THERE IS AN ABC RADIO NETWORK –
60,000,000 Americans are right on the spot at a sporting event such as the Patterson-Johannson fight (an ABC Radio exclusive).

BECAUSE THERE IS AN ABC RADIO NETWORK –
every radio listener is kept in constant touch with the nation and the world. Reporters and news analysts such as Alex Dreir, John Cameron Swayze, Edward P. Morgan, Bill Shadel, Paul Harvey work at ABC Radio – all through the day, all through the night. That's because Americans must know the news. And they know because there is an ABC Radio Network.

BECAUSE THERE IS AN ABC RADIO NETWORK –
more people have a better understanding of the men and women who make national and international news through such fine public service programs as Presidential Press Conference, Issues and Answers, and From Capitol Hill.

BECAUSE THERE IS AN ABC RADIO NETWORK –
Don McNeill's Breakfast Club helps millions to get a happy start every day . . . every day for 28 years. Yes, it's an everyday fact: local ABC Radio stations will keep giving America the best in public service, the best in entertainment, the best in news, the best in sports, because there is an ABC RADIO NETWORK.

Network Radio Faces Future With Ideas And Enthusiasm

By ARTHUR HULL HAYES
President, CBS Radio

THIS year we witness the assembling of a new political administration in Washington. New policy-makers there have confidence and enthusiasm in their favor as they set to work guiding a nation. Network radio faces the future with equal enthusiasm, as its ideas and innovations operate to meet economic, cultural and scientific developments of today and tomorrow.

The radio network business, in a state of frequent flux since the start of television's inroads on audience and sales in 1950, has now evolved to a point where it is once again stable and secure. We are back with solid realities . . . and pleasant ones, too.

At CBS Radio, the reality is this: a carefully-planned program formula that has been shaped and strengthened to consolidate the interests of advertiser, affiliated stations, networks and audience. The result is a modified Program Consolidation Plan, inaugurated late in 1960, that enables CBS Radio to feed much more news and information to stations, while retaining personalities that have set CBS apart—Arthur Godfrey, Garry Moore, Art Linkletter, Bing Crosby and Rosemary Clooney. Their kind of entertainment is smoothly integrated with nineteen factual new CBS Radio Features and regular sessions with Lowell Thomas, Eric Sevareid, Bob Trout, Douglas Edwards and the rest of the distinguished CBS News staff.

Listener reaction to the new schedule has been more than favorable. Advertisers are constantly showing more interest. And stations have come through as we hoped they would. The rate of affiliate applications conjures up memories of the pre-1948 era.

The principles of supply and demand indicate success for a product that fills or fulfills an intense need. Our programming is of course a product. And a large part of our success today depends on how our product meets the needs of our stations. This product is many things at CBS. It is entertainment; it is music; but most of all, it is information and news. And that is no accident. Radio stations preceding 1950 wanted one kind of programming. Since those days, the nation has undergone many socio-economic changes. It is no surprise, then, that today's stations seek something very different.

They want news and information because of their added value in a world of Cold War and Hot Prospects. They want these services from us because (1) network radio continues to perform them best and (2) stations cannot begin to provide such coverage and background for themselves.

Clearly, that puts us—first and foremost—in the business of supplying national and international news; special events coverage; analysis; and sports.

Naturally enough, this change in the complexion of radio networking has been accompanied by progress in other areas of American life. The growing body of intelligentsia has increasingly sought more outlets for constructive opinion and debate and basic knowledge; public affairs in television has finally engendered what amounts to mass audience acceptance; publishers' figures relate the solid and still-growing sales rate of non-fiction; good music—represented, incidentally, on CBS Radio by the New York Philharmonic and the Cleveland Orchestra—has experienced a renaissance; and good newspapers seem to carry more informational "meat" than ever before.

Network radio is an integral part of American life and the American household. It is inevitable that a change in the focus of our living should be reflected in the nation's radio programming. That is proper because we broadcast to satisfy while we inform and entertain the public.

To an advertiser, the biggest minute is the one that clocks the biggest audience. In the average commercial minute, advertisers on the CBS Radio Network in 1960 reached 28 per cent more homes than on the next network, 9 per cent more homes than on the other two networks combined. 1961 promises an even bigger lead for CBS Radio, with its new program schedule– expanded news and information, more special features, important personalities and entertainment. Whether you buy a saturation campaign or co-sponsor one five-minute show... minute for minute your advertising dollars buy the biggest audiences in all network radio on the CBS Radio Network.

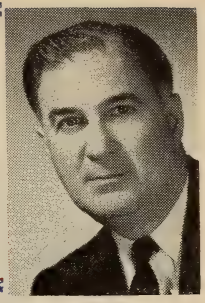
"People To People" Radio Pays Off At Local Level



By SIDNEY J. WOLF
President, Keystone Broadcasting System

THE Keystone network in 1960 showed a 25% increase in billings from our national and regional advertisers, and we think this points most affirmatively to a rising interest in radio and particularly in the Keystone brand of national radio at the grass roots level.

Sales gains are always significant in determining patterns and predictions. But there are also two other major factors which make me think the new year will be a top selling year for KBS and for our advertisers.

We serviced some 80 major advertisers during 1960, and many of them were new to radio and new to our grass roots concept of radio. But I have also seen a marked new interest among many blue-chip advertisers in the C and D counties where Keystone is dominant. Clients are using our stations in these markets to reach listeners in a "people to people" radio effort which pays off at the local point of sale. Almost 90% of our 1,120 Keystone radio stations are located in these C and D counties, penetrating deep into the heart of every community. And 75% of our affiliates are in single-station markets.

Marketing admen—that special class of professionals who work with media as well as with markets and strategy—are more keenly aware this year of the importance of these markets. We think this is why they have bought Keystone facilities in such quantity.

For example, the final quarter of last year showed that six major automotive concerns (and many more different automotive brands of cars and trucks) were using KBS facilities. Another significant KBS buyer group is eight farm market advertisers, producing merchandise and services usable by the farmer as a worker and by him and his family as general consumers.

These same marketing-media experts are also knowledgeable about how to reach the grass roots consumer with sales effectiveness as well as with quantity coverage. A standout in this kind of imaginative radio buying is a long-time KBS client, the Pet Milk Co. of St. Louis. It and its agency, Gardner Advertising, have developed (and other KBS advertisers do this, too) two transcribed shows of their own tailor-made to two important segments of the total listening audience: the Negro and the farmer.

We think many more radio advertisers will follow this lead of pin-pointing a selective audience, and that they'll back the radio buy with the local-level merchandising aids furnished by Keystone.

General advertisers—such as cigarettes and soaps—are using our Keystone facilities to reach a more general audience comprised of these groups as a mass market. Keystone has as components of its 1,120-station network three divisions: farm, Negro and college.

The farm network of 884 affiliates reaches 77% of all U. S. farms; the Negro network of 463 radio stations, 72% of the total U. S. Negro population; the college network of 355 stations, covering 490 colleges and universities with an enrollment of 752,056 students.

On the basis of a striking 25% sales gain in 1960—a year when many advertisers "held back" because of election uncertainty —I think we can expect this year an even greater sales gain and the investment of many more radio dollars by business and industry at all levels of advertising.

Broadcasting Managements' Future Must Be Planned Today!

By ROBERT F. HURLEIGH
President, Mutual Broadcasting System

BROADCASTING came into its own last year. Its foundations were firmly established, its roots deeply implanted.

In one fell swoop — and by virtue of its emphasis on public interest, public affairs and news programming — it proved that both its media have infinite impact on the American public, so positive an impact as to create an unprecedented close Presidential election with the highest outpouring of voters in all American history.

Broadcasting no longer need take a back seat to anyone — particularly its outspoken critics. But it must cement its prestige position by providing means whereby the same creative forces which provided the pedestal can be sustained down through the years.

There is one particular area in the entire broadcasting field that needs pattern-changing. This is the development and sponsorship of younger talents to eventually replace those in managerial drivers' seats. This must be done immediately — to keep that steady infusion of new plasma, new creativity and newer viewpoints so necessary to the pyramidal projection of its various fortes.

The technical operations in both broadcasting media are well adjusted to the constant need and flow of engineering personnel. Technical schools on both university and vocational levels have mushroomed throughout the country with a steady outpouring of trained personnel as a direct result.

But for the management side — particularly creative management — there are no such schools and there is no steady crop of young executives who readily can step into the pioneers' shoes to keep the treadmill turning properly. Accountants are not broadcasters — and neither are attorneys. Yet, in too many instances we are finding trainees for pedestrian, formula-ridden corporate posts becoming key management personnel in a field predicated on imagination, creativity and extreme mobility and fluidity in action.

Nor is there any pat formula or curriculum that now can be prescribed as an educational guidepost for future management personnel. Perhaps the simplest technique to follow would be: (1) a good general college background with basic understandings of cultural developments, history, sociology and the arts; (2) a broad understanding of the principles serving as the foundation stones for formulation of the Federal Communications Act and the decrees and mandates issued by the F.C.C. under that statute; (3) a general understanding of good business practices; (4) a basic desire to be in a service profession and be outstanding and lead in that profession; (5) a pleasing personality and (6) a flair for imaginative, creative thinking.

These are merely suggested prerequisites. As broadcasting increases its impact on community life, becomes more integrated into internal functions of communities and more widely used as basic communications arms specialized skills will have to be developed forcefully to cope with broadened horizons. Broadcasters could do well to adopt the practice of major industry, which now invests in its future leaders at the high school level. Such thinking would provide milestones most important to the future of the broadcasting industry, too.

Mutual stations go network and stay local

Mutual gives you the advantage of network facilities and still lets you do your own local programming!

That's the successful secret of a Mutual affiliation. You get network facilities—on-the-spot news reported by authoritative newscasters, plus a wide range of music, sports and special events. At the same time you are free to do your own local programming—local personalities, local features and immediate area coverage.

With a combination like this, small wonder that so many stations are happy with the Mutual Radio Network.

Mutual Stations are making money—can you think of a better reason for considering a Mutual Radio Network affiliation?

MUTUAL RADIO NETWORK

A Service to Independent Stations

MUTUAL CLEARS THE AIR

STOP! Mutual Radio is the only network that gives this guarantee: 80% clearance across the board in all prime time slots! LOOK! All of Mutual's 400 affiliates are sold on Mutual's "Go Network—Stay Local" programming concept. Result? Clearances are not a problem.

LISTEN! You hear what you buy on Mutual Radio. Your client's clearance pattern becomes established with the airing of his first announcement. Mutual Radio gives you your advertising schedule . . . not rebates. GO! Want a guaranteed 80% clearance in prime time? Buy Mutual!

'Sounds Of The '60's' Bears Significance At NBC in 1961

By WILLIAM K. McDANIEL
Exec. Vice President in Charge, NBC Radio Network

THE year 1960 was one of the most significant in the history of NBC Radio. On January 4th of that year we broke sharply with a traditional broadcasting formula as old as the networks themselves and launched a new programming concept designed to meet the urgencies of our fast-changing times, as well as the stepped-up requirements of our affiliate stations and the advertisers. We called the new format "The Sound of the Sixties."

Our new programming pattern was adapted after years of experimentation and exhaustive discussion with our affiliates. Faced with a decade which promised worldwide changes and news developments at a rate never before experienced, NBC Radio geared its programming accordingly. We dropped the out-moded "soap operas" and variety shows from the NBC schedule and built "The Sound of the Sixties" around such services as "Monitor" and "News on the Hour," adding "Emphasis" and expanding our schedule of sports, special events, information and public service programs.

By the second quarter of 1960 the new format was proving its effectiveness in every way. For the first time in over eight years, the NBC Radio Network was in a profit position and a chain reaction of progress had set in.

Because the new program structure was better designed to meet the needs of the NBC Radio affiliates, station clearances went up from an approximate 80% to an average of better than 95%. This increased advertiser acceptance, permitted rate increases and dramatically improved ratings, all of which in turn raised the payment of compensation to the stations and consolidated the network's profit position. At the year's end, NBC Radio had enjoyed its most successful twelve months since the early fifties—a full year in the black.

As important as 1960 was as "the year of the breakthrough" for the NBC Radio Network, its bearing on 1961 is fully as significant.

NBC Radio entered the New Year in the black with a profit already guaranteed for the first quarter. By the middle of January, "News on the Hour" was sold out for the entire year and the Network had more business on the books for the second quarter than it has had for the last four years.

Based on the solid foundation established during 1960, the NBC Radio Network plans to continue its expansion in the direction of news, special events, public information, public service and sports. (During 1960 NBC Radio broadcast special programs covering world crises in Cuba, the Congo, Algiers, Laos and the U.N.; the Conventions, Presidential Campaigns, the election and the Inauguration; the summer and winter Olympics and many other events of national interest.)

In 1961 we plan to make even wider use of the NBC News Department's unexcelled facilities around the world. Immediate contact with all our affiliate stations will be maintained on a moment-to-moment basis through the use of the Hotline Control Box which NBC originated in 1956.

Another major project during 1961 will be the introduction of new and timely features and production techniques into "Monitor." The "Monitor" service has become so universally recognized by affiliates and advertisers alike that we feel it deserves our continuing special attention.

The NBC Radio Network faces the year 1961 with a programming format which has proved itself, meeting every test throughout the last year. As further evidence that the course we chose in January, 1960 was in tune with the times, others in the industry are beginning to move in the same direction NBC Radio pioneered over a year ago.

THE BIGGEST THING IN RADIO IS...

N

BC

Week after week, NBC Radio Network continues to deliver the largest audience in radio today. No doubt about it, NBC's new (and widely imitated) brand of programming is what attracts today's listening public. Just look what's happened to NBC audiences since the new schedule went into effect. Monitor Sports – up 11%. Monitor News – up 24%. News On The Hour – up 14%. Emphasis – up 28%. All of which may account for the fact that NBC now carries nearly half of all sponsored network time.*

All figures based on unduplicated homes delivered in four weeks by typical schedules. – A. C. Nielsen, Jan. vs. Nov. 1960.*

ROOM AT THE TOP

Successful advertising campaigns feature spot at the top of the list . . . the only medium that allows you to reach — with maximum impact — the prospective customers you must reach, pinpointing only the markets you're in. Top advertisers get high return with low investment and there's no waste.

Scores of success stories in H-R's files attest to the sensational job spot advertising does.

Your nearest H-R man will be happy to give you a fast, first-rate fill-in.

EXPERIENCE

Behind the brow of the pilot, knowledge won through years of experience . . . skill born of doing.

In our business, too, 15 years' experience have given us a background that makes the time buyer's job easier . . . lessens the chance of costly errors.

Such experience must be earned. And there's no substitute for it.

Station Representatives Association, Inc.

By LEWIS H. AVERY
President

THE Station Representatives Association, Inc. was founded in September 1947, by a substantial group of radio representatives, for the sole purpose of promoting the use of radio advertising among advertisers and agencies, as well as protecting the welfare of the representative firms themselves. Later the association was extended to include television representatives as well.

Over the years, the association has been involved in a number of projects and activities beneficial to its members, their represented stations, and the rest of the radio and television industry. Listed below is a partial list of some of the major projects and activities with which the association has been identified:

Successfully initiated action before the FCC to get the network spot representation organizations out of the representation business.

Prepared and issued a Spot Radio Estimator, which enabled agencies to determine the cost of a spot campaign.

Prepared and distributed a booklet titled "Spot Broadcasting Lets You Decide."

Conducted spot radio clinics among stations represented by member firms.

Actively campaigned and established standards now almost universally accepted for television ID commercials.

Established and carried out a Crusade for spot Radio Campaign.

Instigated and actively campaigned for the formation of what is now TvB.

Worked with the AAAA on the Nielsen coverage studies.

Prepared and presented a slide presentation on spot radio to agencies, advertisers and stations.

Actively worked with NARTB Code Review Board on television code matters.

Established a projection formula for use with the A. C. Nielsen coverage reports.

Instigated a campaign and worked closely with the AAAA in establishing standards of art work in TV commercials.

Established a system of reporting dollar volume figures in spot radio, whereby it was possible to estimate total dollar volume for all radio.

Established a system for mailing to stations, known as operations desk, which has been accepted and is being used by practically every TV station in the business.

Established a timebuyer and advertiser mailing list, which is currently maintained by SRA, and is regarded as one of the most up-to-date lists in the business. (4000 agency personnel; 100 advertisers).

Prepared and distributed a booklet entitled "The Story of the Spot Salesman and You" to all agencies, stations, government personnel and other interested individuals.

Prepared and presented a slide presentation titled "Prospects On A Silver Platter" to leading advertising agencies in New York and Chicago, as well as advertisers.

Successfully established the "Silver Nail Time Buyer of the Year" Award, and the "Gold Key" award. (The award program has been enlarged to include the "Chicago Time Buyer of the Year" award.)

Has actively campaigned against the bartering and brokeraging of time in both radio and television.

Maintains a complete and up-to-date list of all representative firms and stations represented by them.

Has devised new contract forms for both radio and television, and is currently conducting a campaign to establish these common or standard forms in the business.

A campaign started by SRA is currently under way to get stations to adopt a one rate policy.

The Association presently has under way a project to establish a central source of information for competitive advertising on a current basis, as well as a campaign to enlarge samples and reduce the number of ARB and Nielsen reports.

PS PERSONALITY SCOPE

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL RADIO STATIONS:

Thanks to the 1,437 radio stations who are now using our service. We want you to know that we are dedicating ourselves to putting radio in the strongest position of any communications medium, through our new, exclusive-basis, star program service: Celebrity Fives - five-minute daily radio programs featuring the best, top-name talent available from Hollywood, Broadway and TV in unique format shows - to give your stations national prestige, increased income and increased listenership.

Starting May 1, 1961, over 1,000 radio stations began programming my first Celebrity Fives show, "Ask Eddie Cantor". Stars for whom we expect to produce shows during this year include such names as Walter Slezak, Peter Lorre, Jacques Bergerac, Faye Emerson, Mary Margaret McBride, and many others.

We will be completely scheduled when our shows are programmed on their exclusive, one-station-per-market basis in every city in the country. If Celebrity Fives are not already being programmed in your city, write and I'll tell you how you can receive this exclusive service for your station at no charge to you, and I'll also send you an audition transcription.

is only as good as the talker, and the talkers on one New York radio station bring entertaining and articulate conversation for more than 20 hours a day to America's largest station audience. A recommendation of your product by these personalities means a marked increase in sales. That's why, year after year, more advertisers use this radio station than any other in New York! The next time you buy radio, why not make it the one station where talk gets results —

THOMAS PAINE

would have been "in his element" at WPTR

Tom Paine had a dedicated sense of responsibility. So has WPTR. He'd have loved it here.

WPTR takes a more active part in the promotion of Public Service than perhaps any radio station in America. It plays music, of course, but news comes first. It believes radio is primarily a media of communications and that it is more effective in many areas than print could ever hope to be.

WPTR originated "Action—Central News". This concept of instantaneous round the world coverage plus mobile unit local coverage is now being used (title and all) by over 100 major radio stations coast to coast.

But more—WPTR not only covers the news—it says what it thinks about it, too. And it says it in the most independent language of any independent in the business. This is GRASS ROOTS RADIO AT ITS BEST and perhaps why WPTR is the best listened to station in the market.

Perhaps that's why it has more local advertising than the next 3 stations combined; more total advertising than the next 2 stations put together.

WPTR PEOPLE 50,000 PEOPLE WATTS

ALBANY, TROY, SCHENECTADY

The Dominant Station in the market according to Pulse. Right up there with Hooper, too. For full details-see your EAST/man. Foster & Creed, in New England.

BEST WAY TO EMBRACE THE NEW YORK NEGRO COMMUNITY...

"LIB it up!

More "Negro Stations" pick up more special service programs from WLIB than from any other station in America. Such is its prestige and integrity! A mark of distinction deeply deserved, for year after year WLIB has striven to be not solely the voice of entertainment but the voice of conscience for its community as well.

This honesty of purpose has consistently given WLIB by far the largest share of the listening Negro Community in greater Metropolitan New York.

Advertisers, too, have seen the results of this distinctive type of programming. That's why more national advertisers place more business on this station than on any other Negro station in Metropolitan New York.

Call WLIB for the facts today. See why more time-buyers say if you want to increase your sales in this million and a half market all you have to do is "LIB IT UP"

STATUES ON THE SCHUYLKILL portray early American history for plaza strollers and thousands of motorists who get in and out of town along beautiful East River Drive. Many have their radios on. Many of the many are dialed to 610.

Mr. & Mrs. Metrodelphia live with history, both in ancient inheritances, and modern interpretations like the statuary above, in Philadelphia's Ellen Philips Samuel Memorial. For history in the making, Metrodelphians turn to WIP, attentive to the area's life and cultural development for 40 years. (Our fm station, already carrying U.N. proceedings, will transmit all presidential news conferences.) Now the added impact of Metropolitan's new concept is rapidly bringing WIP to the foremost audience position in Philadelphia. Many advertisers are using WIP to make sales history. WIP, Metrodelphia, Pa.

1961 Big Year For Canadian Association of Broadcasters

By T. J. ALLARD
Executive V.P., CAB

A MILESTONE of 1960 was the Board of Broadcast Governors' blessing of the first privately-owned television network to be allowed in Canada. The license was granted to S. W. Caldwell Limited Toronto who was unopposed in his application to the Board.

Perhaps more attention was paid to research this year than in any other year in broadcasting's history. The most ambitious project is the Communications Research project being undertaken for Canadian broadcasting at the University of British Columbia. This project was initiated as a memorial to four broadcasting pioneers—Harold Carson; F. H. Elphicke, A. A. Murphy and Harry Sedgwick.

The C.A.B. has donated $20,000 to this project, and a total of $300,000 is expected for the fund in toto so that the Communications project can be financed in perpetuity.

The Communications project will be designed to find out what impact radio and TV programs have on people, and why; to what extent these reactions are predictable because of what the people are, rather than what the programs are; basic audience composition, etc.

Another research project which was launched this year was the special study on the French language market, which was undertaken in co-operation with the French language regional association.

Another research project was the complete survey of the buying and selling methods actually or potentially employed in the broadcasting industry. This survey was undertaken by the firm Woods, Gordon of Toronto for the C.A.B.

The C.A.B. also had a committee under the Chairmanship of Mr. Reo Thompson investigate talent and personnel training. In addition, there were many liaison committees such as the CAB/CAAA/ACA Liaison Committee consisting of Mr. R. T. Snelgrove, Mr. K. D. Soble, Mr. J. A. Dupont, Mr. D. A. Gourd and Mr. A. Waters.

The C.A.B. presented four important briefs during 1960. One was presented to the Ministers of Finance and National Revenue asking that broadcasting stations be exempt from application of sales tax. Another brief, dealing with political broadcasting, was submitted to the House of Commons Standing Committee on Elections and Privileges. A brief was also submitted to the House of Commons Committee on Broadcasting, and to the Board of Broadcast Governors concerning radio regulations.

The Code of Ethics approved by the C.A.B. has now been printed and copies suitable for framing will be sent out to stations who have applied for adherence.

On the annual meeting front, in addition to regional annual meetings, there was the C.A.B. annual meeting held in Quebec City in March. Another highlight of the year was the meeting of the Radio-Television News Directors Association which met in Canada for the first time in 1960.

Radio week was held again this year to inform the public of the informative and entertaining qualities of radio. Promotion kits were sent out from the C.A.B. Toronto office featuring spots; idea books; fact sheets, etc. The Television Section of C.A.B. held its Fourth Annual Television Seminar in Toronto in April.

The total membership of The Canadian Association of Broadcasters is now 163 radio and 49 television members, plus 66 associates.

Canadian Television Continues Its Growth

By JULES LAROCHELLE
Radio-TV Daily, Canadian Bureau

TELEVISION has swept Canada by storm. This is more strongly emphasized than ever this year as new privately owned stations have either begun or are getting ready to begin operations in Canada's largest cities heretofore served solely by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation stations.

Television programs can now be received by over 93 percent of all Canadian homes which are being served by a total of 74 stations, at latest count, not including a number of satellite outlets.

The number of stations has grown from only two, back in September, 1952, to 74 (17 CBC-owned stations and 57 privately owned stations); the number of Canadian homes with TV receivers has increased from 4 percent of all homes in 1952 to 80 percent, according to the last official report. As of January 1 this year, it is estimated that TV homes in Canada have attained 83 percent coverage.

Within a few years, according to some sources connected with the industry, ownership of TV sets should reach close to the 100 percent mark.

In brief, television set ownership in Canada has leaped from 4 percent of total households in 1952, to 84 percent of total households as of March 31, 1960. The number of TV stations in operation in the same period has grown from 2 to 74, and sales of TV receivers have increased from 140,000 to 3,931,000.

The two provinces leading in set ownership are the richest and most heavily populated—Ontario and Quebec, with the former enjoying a slight lead. In Ontario, 88 percent of the total number of households are provided with 1,405,000 sets. In Quebec, 98 percent of the total number of households own 1,000,000 sets.

The smallest number of sets are on Prince Edward Island (15,000), covering 62 percent of total households. Next is Newfoundland, with a total of 50,000 sets, representing 56 percent of the total number of households.

Meanwhile, radio broadcasting has continued to flourish. According to industry sources, revenues of radio stations continued at a high level during 1960, despite strong competition for the advertisers' dollars from television. Sales of radio sets, compared to sales of TV receivers, have improved, although showing a decline for 1960, compared to the previous year. Sales of transistor radios were high, as well as those of automobile sets.

For 1961, there will be keen competition for the approximately fifty million advertising dollars available for television, and the broadcasters will also be competing for the viewers' time.

The six recently-licensed English language independent stations, as well as the second French-language station in Montreal, will begin operations in the major cities, competing with existing CBC outlets. Formerly, the CBC enjoyed a monopoly in the rich markets of Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver, Winnipeg, Ottawa and Halifax.

In a seventh city, Edmonton (Alberta), the CBC has been granted license to compete with a privately-owned station in operation for several years. And in an eighth center, Calgary, a second private outlet has been approved. These two new stations will also start operations this year.

Also highly possible for 1961, is a second English television network. The CBC at present operates two networks, one French and the other English. Spencer Caldwell of Toronto, has obtained initial permission from the Board of Broadcast Governors to operate such a network, which may be finalized at a second appearance before the BBG.

Weapon For Peace . . . Television Documentaries

By DONALD H. McGANNON
President, Westinghouse Broadcasting Company

THE state of the world indicates more urgently each day that our future depends, almost pathetically, upon our ability to communicate with each other as people within the same nation and, more important, to communicate as a nation to people outside of our own country.

The task of communicating our ideals, philosophies, objectives and determinations, our genuine concern for other peoples and our yearning for peace lies at the very root of man's future. How do we tackle this task?

It is strange that while most segments of our society have recognized the need for professionalism in the communication of ideas, implementation of this need does not exist in the various strata of government.

It occurred to us, Westinghouse Broadcasting and our associates at the National Educational Television and Radio Center, that there was something that could be done by television. No matter how small, it would be a definite contribution and perhaps a launching pad for other far-reaching efforts.

It was clear to us that TV undoubtedly represents the most effective means of communicating to masses of the population. How could we use this medium effectively and what would be our potential audience? As a result of working with other broadcasters who had similar thoughts on the same subject, the International Television Federation came into being last fall.

Intertel was founded by the Australian Broadcasting Commission, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Associated Rediffusion of the United Kingdom and, on behalf of the United States, NETRC and WBC. It is obvious that with such a federation, our initial audience is to be the English speaking nations of the world. These are people with whom we should be able to communicate most easily.

The American members of this federation expect to make the series available by syndication to the entire Western Hemisphere.

The plan calls for the production of twelve-one-hour documentaries. The American members will produce four, United Kingdom four, Canada two, and Australia two. The subjects will be of timely importance and international dimension; yet they will not be topical news stories nor duplications of some of the extraordinary work being done by networks in this field.

At a meeting in Vancouver, B.C., the first six subjects were evolved. They are tentatively titled: "Heartbeat of France," an examination of France by Britain; "The Overseas Chinese," a look at the key world areas colonized by expatriate Chinese, by Britain; "Great Britain in Transition," a social and human documentary on England by the U.S.A.; "Where is Cuba Going?", an investigation of Cuba by Canada; "Living With a Giant," a look at U.S.A.-Canada relations by Australia; and "Africa on The Move," some of the new African republics examined by the U.S.A.

The function of each program is an investigation by one nation of another, and a reflection on foreign subject matter that is in some instances of great tradition, in other instances of compelling current importance. Each member has the opportunity to reject the program as being unsuitable, but it's contemplated that this would not be done on any basis of censorship or unwillingness to permit factual criticism.

This is but an initial step. We hope it represents the first of many to follow in the free flow of information and the cultural exchange of material among all nations of the world, a project which has been dormant and ineffective to date.

The New Sound In Radio Syndication

By PETER FRANK
President, The Peter Frank Organization, Inc.

THE broadcasting industry has long recognized that television has brought about enormous changes in its sister field—radio. Radio which so many feared would become extinct has, on the contrary, rebounded until today it is healthier than ever, even though in a different form, one which finds individual stations the stronger factor, in contrast to the days when the radio networks dominated.

It took longer, however, to recognize another development resulting from the impressive rebirth of radio. This second factor was that as radio changed, so would the all-important tributary services upon which every radio station relies. No single entity, within sound broadcasting, however, has changed as drastically or as dramatically as radio syndication.

Today, the great emphasis in radio syndication is on a new combination of sounds, designed to enhance the stations themselves, as they fight so furiously for recognition of their own particular sound image.

It is worth tracing the underlying reasons why each station is so intent on developing its own sound image. In days past, high powered stations, aided by top name radio network programs, could count on the muscle of their own wattage and the muscles of network shows to give them an audience edge. Then, suddenly, the more important of these two elements disappeared—how many name network shows are still on the air?

It's true that there were many types of station program formats during the heyday of network radio, but these were mostly independent stations. Now their numbers were to be increased by affiliated stations who could no longer count on network revenue. Thus, where there may have been one "good music," or one "rock and roll," or one "country and western" station in a market, now there were many. As a result, the fight for listeners became even more fierce, and the need for devices-in-sound to enhance a station's image became greater.

From this need developed the new sound in radio syndication. Such services as "The Big Sound," "IMN Jingles" and "Target Jingles" came into being. In place of 15-minute or longer syndicated features came production aids designed for integration into the great emphasis most stations gave news and disk jockey shows. These production aids are "takes" ranging mostly from 10 to 30 seconds, incorporating the use of famous recording and film stars in what appears, to the listener, to be a personal interplay between d.j. and star, plus dozens of other production aids, music cues and themes, commercial "beds" and the like.

These features, many of them customized for each station, are produced by syndicators in a fashion that enables program directors, production staffers and d.j.'s the widest of ranges in program scope. Not only that, these new production aids are also tailored for every kind of radio station, from good music to "swinging" stations.

Almost simultaneously, to further the station's own sound image, came the development of jingles tailored to each fashion in sound. At first some stations themselves wrote and produced them; now there are many syndicated jingle services meeting the same need.

To paraphrase an historic saying, radio's fight for audiences and sales has only begun. Now that listeners and clients alike are aware of radio's durability and continued sales power, every station is in there to stay; to continue to build its own sound, by its own devices, and with the aid of the new sounds in syndication.

True 'Image' Emphasis Key To Negro Radio Progress

By HARRY NOVIK
General Manager, WLIB, New York

NEGRO radio everywhere is on the threshhold of its greatest popularity. For the first time in years, it is being recognized for the potential it has been building over the years.

It is becoming evident that specialized markets such as the one WLIB serves in New York, are becoming primary targets for top national competitive products.

Constructively, the time has come for operators of Negro Market stations to emphasize their true "Image" in relation to the communities they serve. To disperse the clouds of ignorance that have hovered over the horizon of Negro radio and point out, loud and clear, their community voice status.

Negro radio has an individuality that cannot be superseded by other stations and a degree of audience loyalty that cannot be found anywhere.

To build such an image is not easy. It cannot be done with "convenient" programming. Stations must be geared to create this role in their communities if they have not already done so.

How it is done depends on the willingness of the station operator to make his outlet a true community service. At WLIB, as in many other top Negro stations throughout the country, this has been done via a complete overhaul of programming, with a concentration on public service, news and special events activities.

For example, during 1960, WLIB donated $268,583 worth of air time to public service spots or programs. This amounted to approximately 643 hours of programming and WLIB is a daytime only station. Our News and Special Events Department has covered every event we felt would be of interest to our community. We sent reporters to cover both Democratic and Republican conventions. We had special reports direct from Washington covering the Civil Rights Legislation fight. When the African troubles began, we had top officials from the United Nations at our microphones to explain what was going on. We also have a direct line to the United Nations for instantaneous pickup of programs. The sit-in demonstrations in the South, the founding meetings in Detroit of the Negro American Labor Council, and countless other events of interest to the Negro community we serve was covered despite the cost to the station.

Sometime ago, when WLIB climaxed its Eighth Annual Festival of Negro Music and Drama with a classical, folk music, jazz concert at Town Hall, New York, more than 1500 guests of the station filled this huge theatre to listen to a two-hour live program of top Negro talent. This free concert was broadcast without benefit of commercials. As a matter of fact, as on many other public service occasions, we preempted sponsors of commercial programs.

The net result of all of this has been the obvious fact that when anyone wishes to reach the 1,500,000 Negroes in Metropolitan New York, they know that the most effective way of reaching them is through WLIB.

This "Image" factor has brought WLIB more national business than ever before and more respect and prestige for both our station and our audience. Without appearing to be the arbiter of all panaceas, I do humbly submit that if other Negro stations will concentrate on building such an Image and many of them have already, the rise of Negro radio in the future could reach unprecedented heights.

Influential "Air Age" Set Stage For "Space Age"

By ROBERT I. QUEEN
Managing Editor, Radio-TV Daily

ONE wonders if the Air Age, inaugurated in 1920, by the opening of Pittsburgh's Station KDKA, has not been even more influential than the Space Age in marking our lives.

The Space Age touches us in important areas. It has broadened our horizons practically to infinity. It has made peace and war questions of survival or total destruction. It has dissolved the barriers of time and distance and made explorers of us all. But it has not, and perhaps never can, come into our lives with the insinuation and insistence of radio and television.

Having become accustomed to the sound and voices of the world, the Air Age advanced to where it showed us the many faces of the world. There is no questioning the fact that at first the pictures on the television screen were a little hazy, and eyestrain was considered as part of the price one paid for the advancement along with the cost of antenna installation, big tube insurance and service contracts. Since that time we have had a ringside seat at the Greatest Show on Earth—to Maurice Evans doing Shakespeare; to Imogene Coca dancing "Swan Lake." Bernstein has taught us music; Katherine Murray has inspired us to dance; Ed Sullivan has taught us to smile; and Nixon and Kennedy have revived the art of political debate. We have seen wars and the signing of peace treaties. We have seen people fight for freedom, and freedom suppressed. We have seen China building Communism and Africa taking great steps into the Twentieth Century.

We have color television and picture tubes installed in walls, printed circuits and pint sized portables with pictures bigger than those of the old consoles.

Currently, almost 50,000,000 television sets are available for viewing in American homes and even two television sets in a home can no longer be considered a status symbol. Other countries, all over the world, have joined us in this adventure into the Air Age with about 28,000,000 television sets and 1,000 television stations. They are also following us through some of the landmarks of American television as they watch tapes and kineoscopes of American programs with dubbed in voices or subtitles. Many an American program is now being seen in a European version and an American in Europe tuning in on a television station is likely to find a panel discussing an offbeat "What's My Line."

Finally, the Air Age and the Space Age have joined and we have heard President Eisenhower's voice from outer space giving us season's greetings and watched our television sets while the rockets at Cape Canaveral heralded the coming of this wonder.

Soon the Space Age will move into our daily Air Age lives and make the present limited national and international networks into interworld networks as sound and sight impulses cross space by way of man-made moons. We can't help but wonder what will be carried into our homes from these new horizons so much closer to infinity.
